FIFTY CENTS

Point . . . Counterpoint

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Twenty cents a day per average household will bring MetroLink to Madison County, and probably Granite City.

Rudy Papa, Madison County Board chairman, said the 20 cents would be roughly $70 per year, according to the chief economist of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

At a news conference Friday afternoon at the Madison County Administrative Building, Papa said opponents of Proposition M, the half-cent sales tax referendum in Tuesday's election, have probably made up their information. "The people of this county are entitled to the truth," he said. "The truth is that MetroLink is a good deal for everyone in Madison County. The truth is that we can afford MetroLink, and we can't afford to pass up this opportunity."

Proposition M must be passed, he said, or the county will be left behind by the rest of the St. Louis region.

"The truth is that we're already paying for MetroLink when we shop at St. Clair Square, go to a Cardinals game or the St. Louis Zoo. We're paying for it, but we don't have it," he said.

Papa said he believes the people of Madison County want MetroLink not just because a survey indicates nine out of 10 support it, but also because it makes sense and is the right thing to do.

Other speakers Friday afternoon echoed his sentiment.

A leading Republican has joined MetroLink critics who want no new taxes to build the light-rail expansion into Madison County without new facts.

"We must vote no and then study it until we know the answers," Madison County Republican Party Chairman Ed Ragsdale said.

"Maybe 1/2 cent more in sales tax money will be wasted in Madison County. How much are we already collecting that could be used for MetroLink?" he asked.

Ragsdale also was critical of the vote coming in an off-year election, when turnout traditionally is light.

"What we have here is a sneak attack," he said.

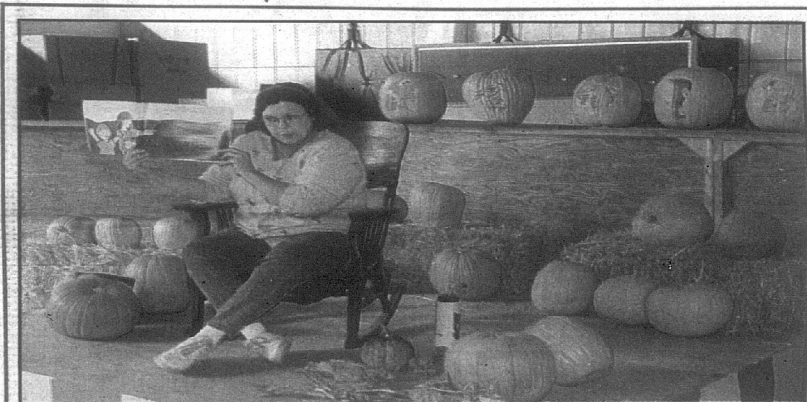

The Republican leader stood Thursday in the same spot outside the Madison County Courthouse where Madison County Board member Harold Byers, D-Highland, held a similar news conference Wednesday. Ragsdale's views echoed those of Byers.

"I want the best for Madison County, but that doesn't mean we have to spend $19 million a mile," Ragsdale said, calling MetroLink's Proposition M an "excessive, premature and poorly planned tax increase."

Voters will decide next Tuesday whether to raise the Madison County Transit District tax 1/2 cent, beginning in 1999, to build an eight-mile extension into the county. With matching federal help, the rails could extend 16 miles and open to riders by 2014.

Federal grants augment Granite, Madison police

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Two additional full-time officers will soon be patrolling Granite City's streets, once they clear the police academy.

The Granite City and Madison police departments also have received federal money to augment their crime-crushing capabilities.

Granite City has received a $150,000 grant under the Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) program to hire the officers.

The new officers, Steve Winston and Oran Cookembo, were already hired in September in anticipation of the federal money. Granite City Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen explained the department wanted to implement a more progressive policing concept including a bicycle patrol.

"There's plenty of equipment we need, so spending that (money) won't be tough."

The bicycle patrol officers are starting to become a common sight on the streets. The program is currently limited and won't be fully implemented until March. Officers assigned to the patrol include Nick Huniak and Jeff Grote.

The federal government is also providing block grants to Madison and Granite City to help purchase new

Discussions center around county taxes

Questions about tax incentives, pension plans and continuing hikes in total tax bills sparked a public discussion Wednesday regarding Madison County's proposed 8.5 percent increase in the tax levy.

The county's proposed $81.3 million budget, up 4.6 percent from last year, relies on the increased levy to bring in $1.7 million in additional funds. The average taxpayer living in a $64,000 house would pay about 3.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation — or about $4.80 to $7.50 a year in additional taxes — to support the plan. Romma Blattner, an Edwardsville businesswoman, questioned business incentives, particularly tax breaks for new businesses lured by enterprise zones, that could drive up overall costs.

That policy socks it to business owners and residents, while Fortune 500 companies freeloard, she said.

Big celebration set for airport debut

By Cheryl A. Moody
Staff writer

The foresight and work of public and military officials and others responsible for construction of the new $211 million MidAmerica Airport (MAA) will culminate during a dedication on Nov. 8.

The public is invited to attend the dedication which begins at 8:30 a.m. with a 2- and 4-mile walk/run. Former Olympic athlete Craig Virgin of Lebanon is organizing the run. Airport officials are scheduled to join the dedication at about 10 a.m. when a TWA aircraft flies them into the airport by way of the new 10,000-foot runway. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, plans to attend the dedication.

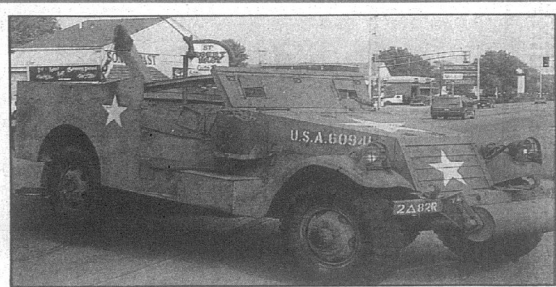

"I will be there, rain or shine," Costello said.

Costello was a member of the policy committee that was appointed in the 1980s by former Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson when MAA was first being considered. "I've enjoyed working with everyone on the airport," Costello said. "Many people came together to make this project happen. It's a win-win situation for the entire region and the Air Force."

Motorcade to celebrate people's right to vote

Special to the Journal

Mitchell residents who lost the chance to cast a November ballot on incorporating the proposed town of Mitchell will take to the streets this week-end in a community-wide effort to get out the vote.

"This is not a Mitchell protest," incorporation leader Max Merz said Wednesday. "This is a motorcade through Chateau and Nameoki townships celebrating America's right to vote."

Merz said the community has worked hard the last six months on the incorporation issue, and people have come together as a functioning community.

"We want people to know that Mitchell is not just about protesting," he said. "We're together, and we are a community."

The celebration begins at 1 p.m. Sunday at Mitchell School, where floats, cars and other units will assemble for the procession. The 18-mile route will take the motorcade east along Poag, Sand and East Chain of Rocks Road to Highway 203 and wind back through Maryville, Old Alton, West Chain of Rocks roads and Hwy. 203 to the school. The trek is expected to take about two hours of driving time.

State Rep. Steve Davis, D-Bell, will kick off a rally at 4 p.m. at the school with an election urging all residents to go to the polls and take every election seriously.

A number of politicians and candidates have been asked to join the rally celebrating the nation's basic right to vote, Mitchell resident Rich Mueller said.

"No protesters will be allowed. This is a voter awareness parade and rally. We want to show the good side of Mitchell and get everybody out at election time. We want them to understand how important it is to get more people involved in voting," he said.

Residents in the Mitchell area near Interstate 270 and Hwy. 203 missed the chance to vote on a would-be village in Tuesday's election after the Madison County Board and the Madison County Circuit Court denied their incorporation petitions this summer.

Their appeal is pending in Mount Vernon, along with a local request for a change of venue and administrative review of the County Board decision.

Mueller said residents already have said their piece about incorporation, and nothing more will be said Sunday.

"This rally is about voter awareness and the right to vote," he said.

Mayor cancels Pontoon board of trustees meeting

The question of whether Randy Presswood remains a Pontoon Beach trustee caused Mayor Glen Wilson to cancel last Tuesday's board meeting.

A Madison County judge that same day had denied to issue a restraining order to keep Presswood from acting as a trustee. Presswood had recently sold his home and is in the process of building another. In the meantime, he is apparently living in his business, the Hard Body Gym.

Presswood was notified in a letter from attorney Richard Rybak that he was no longer a member of the board because he was not a legal resident of the village. However, Presswood contends the letter is void because Keith Jensen, the village's attorney, did not write it.

Voter turnout Tuesday may surprise

County clerk says MetroLink on ballot may draw higher numbers

By Nicole Vaughn and Anele Hill Staff writers

While school board races traditionally draw only 10 percent of registered voters in Madison County, local districts could see a turnout three to four times that in Tuesday's election.

"I expect a greater participation in areas where there are contested races, as there are in Edwardsville and Collinsville, and I would expect more of a turnout where there are other issues on the ballot, like the Triad referendum," Madison County Clerk Mark Von Nida said.

Only one school board race in the Quad Cities area is contested, in Venice.

In Granite City, voters will probably reject Eldin E. Rea, Walt Whitaker, Pete Novacich and James "Jim" Noeth for four-year terms. All are unopposed.

Madison voters will vote for James "Eddie" Newsome, Carol S. Hamm, Harry S. Peterson and John "Dickie" Eyrvin for four-year terms. All are unopposed.

Venice voters will choose between three incumbents and four challengers for four-year terms and two incumbents seeking one two-year term.

Seeking the four-year terms are incumbents Alvester Salmond, Clarence Rhodes Jr. and Ruby Johnson, and challengers Karen Renee Matkins, Sandra K. Harries, Carolyn "Pam" Wilson and James Earrell. Seeking the two-year term are John Henry Williams and William Tyler Jr.

School board candidates were profiled in the Oct. 26 and 29 editions of the Granite City Journal.

A countywide issue also could change the projected 10 percent turnout. Proposition M will be put before voters in 16 Madison County townships (see related stories on page 1A). The measure seeks a 1/2 cent sales tax to pay for the local portion of extending MetroLink into the county.

Von Nida said publicity favoring the measure has been rampant in the final weeks of the campaign.

"(Supporters) are definitely getting the word out," Von Nida said. "It will be interesting to see if (the issue) brings people to the polls."

Only in the past week have opponents of Proposition M made their case, but they could add to the numbers going to the polls.

are the first for Von Nida, who became clerk in May. Von Nida, the former administrative assistant to State's Attorney William Haine, was appointed to replace Debbie Saltch, who died April 15.

"It's been an experience," Von Nida said. "Elections are a logistical miracle that the county clerk's office has been doing for years. I've relied very heavily on my staff this first time and I've picked up a few tricks along the way."

More officers in '98 county budget

Money appropriated for Madison center

The Madison County Board will take a month to fine-tune a proposed $81 million spending plan, up about 4.5 percent from the 1997 budget.

The total, recommended by the board's Finance Committee, provides funds for 10 new probation officers, two sheriff's deputies and cars assigned only to domestic violence cases, 2½ new prosecutors in the State's Attorney's Office and at least two data processors.

The Animal Control Department and the county Juvenile Detention Home also will add one employee each.

The plan sets aside $635,000 for capital projects.

Officials said the add-ons are evidence of a growing trend toward increased costs for the criminal justice system.

"If you add up money in the new budget, you come up with $1.1 million directly tied to criminal activity," said Jim Monday, Madison County director of administration.

Most of the other departments will have funds allocated at the existing service levels, he said.

Finance officials discussed the overall plan during a County Board study session Oct. 22 and answered specific questions from members.

Monday said the 10 additional probation employees, whittled down from the requested 12, will help relieve the current workload of 85 cases carried by each of the department's 50 or 60 probation officers.

COUNTY BOARD

The state standard is 46 cases per officer, he said.

Two new probation satellite offices, proposed for East Alton and Madison, are in line for $70,000 in operating costs and $145,000 in capital expenses to furnish the sites.

Monday said the new offices were recommended to bring probation officers closer to those on probation.

Questions about the $300,000 cost of the new drug court and the number of people it serves will be answered later in a separate report requested by board members.

"Without the drug court, the expenses would be up," County Board Chairman Rudy Papa said.

Little said those costs are going up in every county in the state, not just Madison County.

The Finance Committee also recommended seeking maximum funding for highway construction projects and additional funding for Health Department employee benefit costs and a self-insurance liability plan.

Officials cut $1.2 million out of original department requests before recommending the balanced package to the full board.

The budget will be considered at the next County Board meeting in November.

Ragsdale said the tax triples the current 1/4 cent rate and will cost a family with $30,000 to spend about $225 a year.

"I don't see that they've made the case for the tax increase," he said, criticizing Transit District management and its plan to collect $76 million during the next 15 years before routes and studies are complete.

MetroLink proponents say the tax is needed in advance to attract federal dollars and approval. A $1 million study after passage will determine the best route to serve the most riders, officials said.

Without MetroLink, Madison County could be left behind in the push for economic expansion and growth, proponents say. The light-rail system will improve air quality, ease traffic congestion and become the catalyst for future business growth, said Jim Pennekamp, executive director of Leadership Council, Southwestern Illinois.

Ragsdale said he is a long-time advocate of infrastructure improvement and supports replacement of the McKinley Bridge, improvements to Highways 159 and 157, and extending Interstate 255 to Godfrey.

"I believe in development, but not in expensive and premature development, which this seems to be," he said.

Ragsdale said he was compelled to speak out Thursday after the barrage of literature advocating MetroLink passage. He questioned the possible benefits of companies donating to the campaign and possible bias in the selection process for future jobs.

"I think we needed to hear the other side," he said.

Aye

Tadas Kicieliński, executive secretary/treasurer for Southwestern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council, and Ralph Korte, chairman of Korte Construction Co., are on opposite sides of some issues, but are in the same camp for Prop. M.

Both are co-chairmen of Madison County Citizens for Proposition M.

Korte said he'd been in the construction business for 40 years and had had a "fair amount" of involvement of economic development. "I believe this will do a lot to increase economic development. I've seen what happened in downtown East St. Louis with the light rail coming here," he said. "It has literally brought that city back; and I think it can do the same as we bring it through the cities

A MetroLink line will probably run through Granite City. Korte said MetroLink will cause things to happen. Twenty years from now, those communities without MetroLink will be viewed as minor league cities.

MetroLink gives Madison County the opportunity for the area to be a major player in the region, he said.

"The success of MetroLink is far better than anyone ever dreamed of," he said.

Kicieliński agreed with Papa and Korte. "I like the way this thing came about from the very beginning," he said.

"They didn't sit in a back room smoking cigars and decide they wanted us to bring MetroLink to Madison County," he said. Madison County Transit District started long-range transit planning and held numerous open workshops to get input from the public.

"It's really government by the people," Kicieliński said. "I didn't see any of these nay-sayers at those meetings."

"I find that strange. If they had that much of a problem with this project they should have come to all of those open meetings where it was discussed openly."

He said opponents never went through the trouble to conduct a poll to discover public opinion, and are just grudgingly.

"It's very easy to be against a tax increase," Kicieliński said. "It takes real leadership to support a tax increase."

He said construction workers are behind the increase, and that about a quarter-million dollars "could go to construction companies and workers to help build the extension."

Scout

type once used by the Illinois State Guard and by cavalry under George Patton before his units acquired tanks.

"It's the oldest running piece in the museum," he said. This particular scout car was retired by the Army in Fort Hood, Texas, in 1954 and remained in a junk yard until Venable rescued it.

He and friends rebuilt it and it has been running and a feature of veteran parades since 1980.

Venable said much thanks is due to Snyder Towing of Granite City and Nate Niebling and his staff of Meineke.

"The have done (several) repairs for us over the years," he said. Meineke donated the parts and labor.

"One jeep they worked on until 9 p.m. one night putting a muffler on so the prince of Belgium could ride on it" during a Battle of the Bulge re-enactment, Venable said.

After a decade at the Price Base, the corehouse of military equipment treasures must move.

The museum needs a new home or it may lose many of its loaned, irreplaceable pieces forever. Since word of the museum's troubles was published in the Granite City Journal on Oct. 19, museum officials have received favorable responses and sympathy from the public at large, Venable said.

Yet the museum, as of press time Friday, was still searching for an ideal new home. Offers of either acreage or buildings have come from as far away as Highland and the Soldier's Home in Quincy, Ill.,

to Warrenton and Crystal City, Mo.

Officials at Jefferson Barracks, south of St. Louis, have offered space, but it's not large enough for all the museum's equipment.

The best situation would be to find a suitable building in Granite City, Venable said.

However, museum officials would welcome temporary housing outside of Granite if nothing here were immediately forthcoming.

equipment and personnel. Costello's grant is $13,153 and Granite's is $15,922. The money comes in the form of block grants.

Ruebhausen said the city would soon have a public hearing on their grant.

"Part of the money will go for new portable radios," he said, in addition to a possible fax machine for the dispatcher's office and a machine to produce identification badges.

There's plenty of equipment we need, so spending that (money) won't be tough," he said.

Rep. Jerry Costello assisted in securing the grants.

"These funds ... are absolutely vital to these local communities to continue fighting crime and improving public safety," Costello said.

The block grants came from the Omnibus Crime Act, passed by Congress in 1994 with Costello's support. Jurisdictions are awarded a specific amount based upon the level of the most serious, violent crimes that happen in the area.

Smaller communities are given funds from an aggregate amount provided to the state of Illinois.

Additional federal grants for fiscal year 1997 in Costello's 12th District and the amounts include:

- Centerville, $10,730.
- Belleville, $34,699.
- Alton, $39,112.
- East St. Louis, $324,591.

AT THE MOVIES

Playing God
"Playing God" is the latest in the trendy "cutting-edge" crime thriller genre, mixing morally ambiguous characters, violence laced with humor, and guns, guns, guns.
"Playing God" is a somewhat slow-paced (especially in the beginning) but effective crime drama, with good performances by all. Eugene stays true to his nonviolent, doctor's background throughout, even to the bloody end. If you are a fan of Duchovny's work on "The X-Files," you will probably enjoy the film.

A Life Less Ordinary
A fledgling British filmmaking trio's major teething dilemma with "A Life Less Ordinary," the first offering from director Danny Boyle, screenwriter John Hodge and producer Andrew Macdonald since they set screens alight last year with "Trainspotting." Too quirky by half, and neither as cool nor as clever as it thinks it is, the new movie mostly emerges as an insecure Coen brothers knockoff — imitation hip from a team that has shown it is more than capable of the real thing.
As road movies go, it's a bumpy ride.

their giant white house outside Washington, D.C. in 1993, unable to absorb the enormity of what happened two decades ago on Nov. 22, 1963, Jackie-O (Parker Posey) strides the hardwood floors in pink chenille and a pillbox hat, reads assiduously about the Kennedy assassination and occasionally does something self-destructive. Anthony (Freddie Prinze, Jr.), back home after dropping out of a fancy school, can't quite put his finger on what he does all day.

Only Marty (Josh Hamilton), who recently escaped to New York, seems to have shaken off the Kennedy curse.
Or so he thinks. But within seconds of bringing his fiancée home for Thanksgiving, Marty is sucked into the black hole of emotional obsession that is his family.

Wealth attainable for everyone

Millionaires. They drive fancy cars, hang out at ritzy country clubs and live in the swanky part of town. Right? Think again.

There's a good chance your next-door neighbor is a millionaire.

Wait. Before you turn to the comics, read on.

Thomas J. Stanley, who has studied the wealthy for more than 20 years, is the author of a new book called "The Millionaire Next Door." He first became interested in studying millionaires while working for a trust company. In that job, he was assigned to do a study on people with a net worth of $10 million or more. Stanley arranged an elaborate function orchestrated by a food designer and gourmet wine consultant.

To his surprise, the people who attended drank beer.

"They were just 'good old boys' and first-generation millionaires," Stanley said. This discovery led Stanley to profile the American millionaire. He found that most people who accumulate wealth in one generation are self-employed. They are self-reliant and disciplined, able to blend their business investing habits with their personal investing.

According to Stanley's studies, more than 80 percent of millionaires in America are

Gasparich named to SWIDA post

The Southwestern Illinois Development Authority has announced the appointment of Joe Gasparich to the newly created position of assistant executive director for the authority.

Gasparich began work on Aug. 18. Gasparich is a certified public accountant who holds an master's in finance from Washington University. Experienced in both business and economic development, he has served as director of planning for the St. Louis Land Clearance Authority and as general manager of BAC Theaters. Prior to coming to SWIDA, he was the executive director of the Fairview Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Gasparich will lend his strong financial and business background to expand SWIDA's growing role in economic development in southwestern Illinois. His primary responsibilities will include management of the southwestern Illinois Community Development Corporation, marketing and management of tax exempt leases and small business loan programs and development bond financing.

With the addition of Gasparich, SWIDA will promote its technical assistance capabilities to the private sector.

first-generation rich. They typically have traditional values and live frugally. Would you believe that 37 percent of millionaires buy used cars?

Most millionaires don't fit the popular image of "The Great Gatsby." They're hard-working people, saving money on their own businesses. According to Stanley, an IRS study concluded that "these people are more interested in saving than they are in consuming. That's how they accumulate wealth."

In a recent interview, Stanley distinguished between millionaires in assets and millionaires in income. Earn $250,000 a year for four consecutive years, and politicians classify you as a millionaire. Not so, said Stanley, that's income. The traditional definition of a millionaire is a person with a net worth of $1 million or more. In fact, according to Stanley's book, the average millionaire has an annual household income of $131,000.

How do you become a millionaire on $131,000 a year? The trick is to accumulate wealth. The people Stanley calls "under-accumulators of wealth" spend tremendous amounts of money on leased cars, credit and other culprits of wealth. About 85 percent of millionaires on the other hand, seldom spend more than $360 on a suit or $27,000 on a car.

Would you like to be the neighborhood millionaire? Follow the example of the self-made millionaires: Be self-reliant, live frugally and invest wisely.

VoellingerO'Fallon trot no turkey in charity effort

When it comes to good news, try this on for size. When the O'Fallon Knights of Columbus holds its 17th annual Turkey Trot — one-mile Fun Run and three-mile run on Saturday, Nov. 15, at the O'Fallon City Park — Council No. 4239 will move past the $50,000 mark in proceeds raised for the Southwestern Area 12 Special Olympics.

That means so very, very much when you consider all the other charitable activities of a Knights of Columbus Council but realize how much $50 grand is.

From Monroe to Jersey counties, seven counties in Southern Illinois benefit not just from the Trot but from a Columbus Day kids run and the track and field events conducted in the spring for the Special Olympians for Area 12.

"We expect around 300 runners for the Trot," director Richard "Fox" Ryan told me of the events that feature the mile Fun Run at 10 a.m. and three-mile run at 10:30. When I spoke with Ryan, he was scrambling to find a singer for the National Anthem to really set the tone for the day. All I had to do was read a flyer that noted: seven divisions for male and female from age 15 and under to 60 and over; an entry fee of $8 with registration closing at 9:30 a.m. on trot day and the first 300 entrants receiving a long sleeve winter running shirt; awards including trophies and ribbons for all Fun Run participants; and an added attraction of the race video tape being replayed at the Knights of Columbus Hall where attendance prizes also will be given.

"Why soar with eagles when you can trot with Turkeys?" asks a corner of Ryan's advertisement.

Why not send a donation with check payable to the O'Fallon Knights of Columbus, Box 142, O'Fallon, IL 62450 as entrants are to do as soon as possible?

No, I won't be running, but if I can help one of those Olympians and push the Knights of Columbus further toward $100,000, that's the kind of trotting I really enjoy.

Footnote

When SIU-Carbondale defeated South Florida 23-10 on Oct. 18 in Tampa, the attendance of 34,432 was considerably more than the total that had watched the Salukis in their first six games.

Among the highlights for SIUC as it raised its record to 3-4 was a fumble recovery set up by junior defensive end Karen Vaughn of O'Fallon (6-foot 1.265 pounds), who stripped the ball from a USF running back.

Former Althoff star Dante Stovall, a 6-1, 220-pound freshman, continues to start for the Salukis as a weakside linebacker.

Tube time

When KSDK (Channels) sportscaster Trey Wingo leaves St. Louis in November to take a position with ESPN, he will take with him a most interesting memory.

Trey's first high school featured came in 1991 when he interviewed O'Fallon High soccer player Blue Reno about his flip throw technique that had helped him to be among the St. Louis area's assist leaders.

Later it was easy for Trey to tell me how he recalled "This is Trey Wingo with Blue Reno."

Sanchez's penalty kick seals shootout session

Granite City's Mike Smith controls the soccer ball during Thursday night's game against Belleville East. After the two teams played to a 2-2 deadlock in the Class AA sectional semifinal, the Warriors outkicked the Lancers 3-2 in the shootout.

By Patrick C. Heston
Staff writer

Soccer teams do not die easily in the post-season, but they do die suddenly.

Adam Sanchez's penalty kick, off the hand of Belleville East keeper Owen Seibel on the last shot of the game, gave Granite City a 3-2 shootout edge after the squads had battled through a pair of sudden death overtimes.

The win by the Warriors ended East's sparkling season at 15-3 and sent Granite City (15-7-2) into Saturday's class AA sectional final against Edwardsville (12-6-4).

The Tigers also won their game on penalty kicks, outscoring Collinsville 4-3 after 100 minutes of scoreless soccer.

Granite flirited with danger for the first 40 minutes, playing a lackluster half on both ends of the field and giving East numerous chances to score. Time and again, Warriors keeper Justin Roehr came up big as the Lancers charged the net, forcing the red-and-black into 16 first-half goal kicks.

Finally, at 37:45, the Belleville East pressure broke through. In a flurry in front of the Granite goal, Chad Holland sent a short pass to Larry Scheller, who smoked a shot past Roehr for a 1-0 Lancers lead.

The Warriors nearly scored at the 35:30 mark when a Sanchez looper found Jonas Janek inside the six-foot box. Janek, who carried GCIS defensively in the first half, sent a sharp header high to the center of the goal where Seibel failed in out of harm's way to preserve the half-time lead.

Granite City played at a new level in the second half, putting eight shots on goal to only three for the Lancers, and picking up play in all three thirds of the field.

At 59:31, the Warriors' Josh Hickam scored on perhaps the most spectacular goal of the Metro East soccer season. The senior midfielder took control of a Belleville ball at the center line and tore for the goal with a defender on his heels. Hickam's smash, fired from 16

Edwardsville soph sinks Kahoks in PKs

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Edwardsville freshman Luke Kreamalmeyer showed all the poise of a seasoned varsity soccer player late Thursday night.

Kreamalmeyer was the last of 10 shooters — five per team — to attempt a penalty kick that would either give the Edwardsville Tigers a victory over Collinsville in the sectional semifinals or force another round of PKs.

Both teams had converted three PKs each as Kreamalmeyer waited for the referee's whistle. In a matter of seconds, he deflected a shot off the hands of Collinsville keeper Mike Bettorf into the net to give Edwardsville a victory over the Kahoks.

The victory set up an all Southwestern Conference showdown for the sectional championship. The Tigers faced Granite City Saturday for the title. (See the Wednesday edition of the Journal for results.)

The Kreamalmeyer kid has got a lot of experience on striking PKs for his club team and the state team program he has been involved with, so he has been under situations of tremendous pressure before," Edwardsville soccer coach Mark Schwarzkopf said. "There is really no question on him being selected in the top five. He's a composed player."

"Not only that but he had two great chances with like 20 seconds left with two headers that he missed. If you want to write a script, this would be a great script for a freshman kid who missed two great chances there and finished up winning the game."

After the two teams really played a sporadic 80 minutes of regulation soccer combined with two 10-minute overtime frames, neither team had recorded a goal.

So as most coaches agree, the most ignorant way to decide a soccer game was about to take place: the penalty kick round.

Collinsville went first. Kit Gaitner scored on the first attempt. The Tigers' Zach Evans had his shot smothered by Bettorf as the Kahoks led 1-0.

Tigers' Bevis makes impact as a sophomore

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Dropping names when it comes to the Edwardsville football team can be a fun thing.

Since Tim Dougherty's arrival in 1992, the Tigers program has churned out some formidable football talent, such as Tim's son Jim; Kwayera Jackson; Steffan Nicholson; and Collin Gardiner to quickly name a few.

A new name has emerged this fall: sophomore Joe Bevis. While Bevis still has a ways to go in his varsity career, if his first season of varsity action is an indication, he will definitely be mentioned in the same breath as those players listed above.

Bevis became the first sophomore with Dougherty at the helm to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a season. Bevis completed the regular season with 1,130 yards as the Tigers began postseason play Saturday.

"He's kind of been a surprise," Dougherty said. "Speaking as his football coach, the level of maturity that he has displayed this year has been somewhat of a surprise. With his physical stature, he is really as good as we had at fullback since I've been here. I knew he was going to get the ball 'x' number of times. My concern going into the season was his emotional maturity as a football player. That probably was the most pleasant surprise."

There is no doubt Bevis gained valuable football savvy being the son of assistant football coach Brad Bevis. Joe has had the luxury of being around the Edwardsville coaching philosophy and seven consecutive winning seasons since 1992.

FANDEMONIUM

Cahokia football fans have had much to cheer about this fall, including last week's South Seven Conference win against O'Fallon. But they're not the only fans who have braved all kinds of weather to support their local football teams this fall.

Warriors stun field in the Alton regional

Can you say "momentum"? The Granite City High School girls volleyball team can.

After finishing the regular season with a 9-19 record, including a 1-5 slate in the Southwestern Conference, Granite's girls have been on a tear in the post-season.

Can you say "upset"? The Lady Warriors can.

After dumping third seeded Alton, the host school in a four-team regional tournament, Beth Seel's troops upset prohibitive favorite Bethalto Civic Memorial (18-13) in successive sets on Thursday to win the Alton Class AA regional at West Middle School.

"We were prepared mentally and we knew we could come out and do this," said Seel. "We've been clicking lately and we just played awesome tonight in my opinion. Everything has been working for us so far, so we'll just take this momentum with us into the sectionals. We've had most of our wins in the second half of the season, so the girls are confident."

The Lady Warriors were hot early, sprinting to a 13-5 lead and on the verge of putting the first game on ice. But the Eagles would not go so easily.

Civic Memorial charged back with nine straight points to take a 14-13. But a side-out sent the serve back to Granite City. The Lady Warriors quickly evened the score at 14-14, setting the stage for a somewhat bizarre finish.

Serves rotated eight times without any team scoring a point. Just when it looked like the contest might remain tie forever, the Warriors scored

ALL-JOURNAL GIRLS TENNIS TEAM

Variety is the spice of McMillin's game

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Belleville West junior Lindsay McMillin moved into some very selective company in the Maroons storied tennis dynasty.

McMillin became the first West tennis player to win back-to-back single sectional titles since Susan Brennan last accomplished the feat in the early 1980s.

"It doesn't happen often," West tennis coach Bob Keefe said. "Mainly, most of our singles players have a tendency to play singles one year and doubles the next. It puts her in very select company in terms of having back-to-back sectional championships in singles."

McMillin finished the season with a 38-6 record and a 2-1 mark at the Illinois State High School Association State Tennis Tournament, where she lost in the third round to Karrie Tyrone of Oswego, Tyronian ended up finishing fifth at state.

McMillin's outstanding record and second consecutive sectional singles title has garnered her the High School Tennis Singles Player of the Year for the Journal Newspapers of Southern Illinois.

Lindsay started off the season a little slow in terms of when we had our first two-week tryout period," Keefe said. "She struggled a little bit in practice in competing against her teammates but it seemed like every week she kept getting stronger and stronger. Of course, we play seven tournament weekends in a row."

She played her best tennis of the season when it counted. She topped Belleville East's Becky Brunner in the championship match at the Southwest Conference. She followed that by topping Julie Dougherty of Althoff to win the Belleville West Sectional singles title. It was McMillin's first victory against Dougherty in three attempts. Both Brunner and Dougherty earned All-Journal first-team honors.

In three seasons of varsity action, McMillin has amassed a 92-21 mark. If she repeats her record for this past season, she will move into the top five of all-time winningest tennis players at West.

"For Lindsay, a lot of times it was just a matter of her getting her confidence level to a point where she felt she could compete and win against certain people," Keefe said. "Once she was able to convince herself that she could do that, she was one of the top singles players around."

Keefe said what makes McMillin such a successful tennis player is has a wide variety of weapons to lob at an opponent.

"She can hit the ball with pace and can take pace off the shot also," Keefe said. "She has got one of the top serves, I felt, in the area this year and one of the stronger over heads in the area and is an excellent volley player. I wouldn't say she actually has one weapon that she could use, but several shots she could use to help her win matches."

"When she started believing in her ability to beat people that's when I thought her best tennis came out."

Keefe isn't sure whether McMillin will get an opportunity to win a third consecutive singles title. Keefe is currently kicking around the idea of teaming McMillin and teammate Lauren Carey in doubles next year.

Keefe hopes McMillin will play quite a bit of tennis during the off season to improve on her game even more.

"I would just hope she continues playing by going the tournament route," Keefe said. "Because I think for Lindsay, it is a matter of just playing as much competition at the tournament level and getting in a lot of matches against a variety of level players. She has the shots. That's not a problem. It is just a matter of her getting out and fine-tuning and getting confidence."

Lindsay McMillin

"She can hit the ball with pace and can take pace off the shot also.... I wouldn't say she actually has one weapon that she could use, but several shots she could use to help her win matches."

Esker, Brunner make a good pairing for Lancers

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

The honors are starting to roll in for Belleville East tennis players Jamie Esker and Becky Brunner.

After a seventh-place finish at the state tournament, the Lancer duo has been named as Doubles Players of the Year on the Journal Newspapers of Southern Illinois girls tennis team.

They had a 30-4 record for the season, including a 4-2 mark at state. They won five tournaments including the sectional, placed second at Bloomington and third at New Tri-Brunner, a sophomore, was 4-2 in singles for a 44-6 overall record. Esker, a senior, was 15-5 in singles and 4-9 overall.

"Last year at Champaign, Jamie and Becky played together in the first tournament of the season and had a lot of fun," said East coach Mike Thompson. "They defeated a team from Nicolet, Wis. (a defending state champion). They didn't win first place, but I did realize they had a lot of potential together."

"It was a tough decision, but Brea Phillips (a senior on the 1995 team) was an outstanding

No. 1 and I had to put her with Becky. But I felt Jamie and Becky were the best combination this year."

"A lot of girls doubles teams play one-up and one-back and just hit cross-court shots all day, but Jamie and Becky play a pretty aggressive style. Jamie's steady strokes with Becky's running the court and putting the ball away work pretty well together."

A three-time state qualifier, Esker played doubles last season with Lindsey Stadelman and had a 3-2 record. As a sophomore, she was 2-2 with partner Holly Hughes. Last year as a freshman, Brunner combined with Phillips for a ninth-place finish and a 5-2 record.

This year at state, Esker and Brunner won their first four matches before losing 6-4, 6-3 in the quarterfinals to defending state champions Stephanie and Natalie Matko of Aurora West. That duo went on to claim the title again.

"It was a tough field and it was a deep field," Esker said. "Right away in the first tournament, we saw how well we clicked and knew we had a lot of potential."

"Jamie is better at keeping it in play and I like to go the net a lot," said Brunner, who is considered the "power player" of the pair. "After winning the first couple tournaments, we had a lot more practice. We felt we could be one of the top teams in the state."

Three wins for Esker and Brunner came against Belleville West's seniors Erin Keefe and Tricia Altmansberger, who earned All-Journal first-team honors while claiming a sectional championship and reaching the third round at state.

"The West matches were a highlight because in the past we weren't able to compete with them on a lot of levels," Esker said. "Every time we played them, it was a big match."

"Against the Matkos, we were up 4-1 (in the first set) and played really well. I don't have any regrets about that match."

"We hoped to prove our seed and finish in the top five, so when we lost our last match, I was pretty upset we finished seventh. But looking back now, it's a great accomplishment and I'm happy with it."

Esker didn't start playing tennis until the summer before her freshman year.

"I really picked it up a couple years ago when I started taking lessons from Dave Kelly (at St. Clair Tennis Club in O'Fallon)," Esker said. "I've improved my game a lot. I have a little more power mixed in with consistency. I have a much better head game and that gave me more confidence."

Esker is ranked third in her class with a 4.85 grade-point average on a 4.0 scale.

"Whether I play college tennis will depend on where I go," said Esker, who plans to major in biomedical engineering. "If I go to SLU (Saint Louis University), I'll probably play. I'm also looking at the University of San Diego, and I probably wouldn't play there."

Brunner, meanwhile, has played tournaments and taken lessons for five years. Her father, Mark, is a tennis pro at St. Clair.

"I've taken lessons from a lot of different tennis teachers, some in St. Louis and a couple around here," Brunner said. "I haven't decided on my plans for this winter. Tennis has always been my best sport, but I like a lot of other sports. I played basketball last year."

"Last year with my teacher, I worked a lot on my net game. It paid off this year."

All-Journal Tennis Team

First Team
SINGLES

Julie Dougherty, Althoff

A senior, Dougherty made her fourth trip to the state tournament and lost in the first round. But that didn't spoil a season which included a 20-5 record and two wins in three matches against Belleville West's Lindsay McMillin.

Dougherty placed second at the sectional, losing to McMillin in the finals. She won the Belleville West Invitational with a 4-0 record and placed third at No. 1 singles in the Belleville East Invitational.

"She has a good serve and good ground strokes," said Althoff coach Beth Irwin. "She's very intelligent, yet she also plays very aggressive. She can stay in a point a long time because she's consistent and she comes to the net to close out points occasionally."

"Personality-wise, she's a real hard worker and very dedicated to the sport. She's very quiet, which means she doesn't have many distractions on the court. She certainly could play in college. She has the potential to get a lot better."

Jessica McKinney, Belleville West

This senior wrapped a brilliant final varsity season with a 42-3 record to go along with five tournament titles, one second-place finish and a third-place finish at the Belleville West Sectional.

McKinney closed her varsity career losing in the first round 6-0, 6-1 to the No. 5 seed at the state tournament. She is among the top 10 winningest players of all time at West, ranking No. 10 with 100 victories coupled with just 14 losses.

"She is probably one of the hardest working players we have on the team this season," West coach Bob Keefe said. "She was very consistent, very disciplined, very controlled tennis player with an outstanding work ethic and great attitude."

Maggie Fischer, Edwardsville

A sophomore, Fischer became only the third girls tennis player from EHS to capture a sectional singles title when she topped Valerie McCoy of Civic Memorial. The sectional title also qualified for the state tournament where she won her first round match at 7-5, 6-0.

"It was a tough field and it was a deep field," Edwardsville coach Dave Keefe said. "That is significant. That was probably her greatest moment. She played very well at the Riverbend Tournament."

Lips knows Fischer is only going to get better.

"Maggie is really maturing as a person and that's having a positive influence on her athletic career. Any time a young person begins to mature obviously that is going help them in sports. She is becoming a team leader and becoming a player who likes to compete. She is becoming a much more consistent competitor in terms of how she competes."

DOUBLES

Erin Keefe/Tricia Altmansberger

Belleville West

The senior duo was seeded seventh in doubles at state and made it to the third round before losing 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 to a team from Barrington.

During the season, they won two tournament titles — one being the Belleville West Sectional — and were runners-up in four tournaments as the Maroons top tandem.

Altmansberger finished the season with a combined record of 38-5 and finished her varsity career ranked sixth all-time at West with a 119-12 record. Keefe ended the year with a combined mark of 38-6 and wrapped up her four-year varsity career ranked third all-time with 143 victories and 16 losses.

"They were a much stronger and more confident team this past year," Bob Keefe said. "Their strength would have to be their athleticism and overall consistency as a tennis team. I truly feel they may have been one of the most consistent doubles teams in the entire state this year. What kept them from getting to the height they wanted to is they lacked the one put away shot to end a point in some of their matches. They might have kept them from going all the way almost."

Sara Irwin/Lauren Carey,

Belleville West

Irwin, a senior, and Carey, a sophomore, combined to win five doubles tournament titles at the No. 2 flight for the Maroons this fall and made it to the third round of the state tournament. Irwin and Carey also each won two singles titles.

"They had played together last year," Keefe said. "I felt they were one of the top doubles teams in the area last year except they were our third doubles team and since we could only play two they had to sit out last year. They more than made up for it this year."

Indeed they did. Combining their doubles record along with what they did individually in singles action, Irwin and Carey both finished with overall records of 41-3.

"One of the strengths of their game besides having very good serves and return of serves the girls did an outstanding job of communicating with each other on the courts this season," Keefe said. "Besides having good skills, their communication on the court was outstanding."

Lindsey Stadelman/Cara Woltering

Belleville East

Stadelman, a junior, and Woltering, a senior, combined for a 22-9 record and reached the state tournament, where they lost in the first round to the No. 2 seed. The cancellation of the consolation bracket due to rain deprived them of the opportunity to play more matches in the back draw.

"Their only losses were to teams in the top 32 in the state," said East coach Mike Thompson. "They had a nice 6-2, 6-3 win over the Carlies (Jessica and Lindsay of Edwardsville) in the sectional. They also won No. 2 doubles at the Moline Tournament."

"Lindsey is a three-year state qualifier in doubles. She made it last year with Jamie Esker and she made it as a freshman with Allison Neubauer. Care won our No. 9 player last year and worked very hard in the offseason and made it up to No. 4 or 5."

"Lindsey and Cara play more of a one-up, one-back style and they complement each other well. Lindsey has a very good ground stroke game and Cara is very steady."

Woltering shared co-captain duties this season with Esker.

yards, was deflected by Seibel and sailed in a tight arc back to Hickam, who headed it past a pair of defenders into the left center of the goal.

"I had a bad first half," Hickam said. "Coach came to me, got on me, talked to me and got me going. I picked up my game in the second half. When you don't quit, good things happen."

The 1-1 tie lasted for just over 11 minutes, until Hickam's 45-yard direct free kick sailed to freshman Mike Smith, who trapped the ball and then flicked a shot past Seibel to give Granite a 2-1 lead at 70:50.

But 2 minutes and 2 seconds later, Scheller struck again, heading in a goal just under the crossbar after Roehr charged a crossing pass. The score stayed 2-2 to the end of regulation and through a pair of 10-minute overtimes.

In the penalty kick shootout, East, which shot first, missed high three times, hitting the bar twice. But with a pair of Warriors misses, the game came down to the last kicker, Sanchez, in a 2-2 shootout.

Sanchez drilled a hard shot low and to the right of Seibel, who got a hand on it, but couldn't stop it. The Warriors and the Granite fans exploded in a wild celebration.

"I hit it, it touched his hand and I thought, 'Oh, no!'," said Sanchez. "Then it went in and I went crazy."

It was sweet revenge for the Warriors: who fell to East 4-2 on Oct. 16.

"East is obviously a great team," said a smiling Granite coach Gene Baker. "They are very well-coached and should be proud of a great year. But I think they helped motivate us tonight by their treatment of us last time. They gave us a little bit of adrenaline and emotion that helped bring a little bit more out of us."

"It's not that we're having a super year, but these kids do have a little character and live up to a little bit of a standard," Baker continued. "I'm proud of the kids. They have to be real happy with the win. They were prepared on various things. But some good things we didn't get done. We have to play better."

The Warriors played 1 p.m. on Saturday against Edwardsville. With a win, Granite City would have not only advanced to Tuesday's super-sectional at Quincy, but will avenge its three conference losses in successive postseason games.

•Edwardsville

Edwardsville goalkeeper Matt Evers robbed Chris Choate and Ryan Bettorf on the Kahoks' next two attempts while Justin Huneke and Tim Liffritz scored to give the Tigers a 2-1 lead.

Jeff Rhymer tied it at 2-2, but Kyle Kupinski answered to put the pressure on the Kahoks.

Sean Gregory converted the Kahoks last PK to tie it at 3-3, setting up Kreemalmeyer's heroics.

While Kreemalmeyer's goal was the difference, the Tigers also mobbed Evers for his efforts in the net.

"Evers has been in the state team program and been on the regional team and in regional games that come down to 0-0 or ties that are determined by PKs," Schwarzkopf said. "This is his specialty. He denies the PKs. Right now, that is what he lives for."

The Kahoks are left wondering "What if..." Last year the Kahoks took advantage of the PK round during the playoffs and eventually finished second in the Illinois High Association State Soccer Tournament.

"When I compare last year's to this year's PKs, last year we had some shooters with confidence and we were drilling them," CHS coach Ron Rowden said. "It just showed.

We made 10 in a row. Tonight, their keeper was good and strong to his right. After we made our first shot, we didn't make our second and we had to make our third. That was probably the critical point of the game.

"Both teams had opportunities to score and didn't do it. In the second half, they had an opportunity to come down and then we came right back down into the six and shanked one. That's soccer and I don't like the PK aspect of it."

Shane Brown and Ryan Bettorf each had opportunities for the Kahoks in the second half. Brown pushed his shot wide right and Bettorf punched his shot over the crossbar.

Edwardsville had the best opportunity to score in the overtime period. With 10 seconds left in the second OT, Dan Deist headed a shot that went off the crossbar and the deflection came to Kreemalmeyer, who headed it over the crossbar.

"I've said along with their size and speed would be the difference. They have a good well-rounded team," Rowden said.

Granite City senior Jenna Wright has helped the Warriors volleyball team reach surprising heights in the postseason: a regional championship.

on a pair of serves to claim the 15-14 victory.

"It was a crusher," said CM coach Stacey Coffman of the first game. "We tried to forget about that game and regroup for the next game. But to come back like we did and, then, not to come out on top is really tough. I just couldn't get the girls back up for the second game."

GOHS took a 3-0 lead in game two, was caught 4-4, but then scored seven of the next 9 points to take a commanding 11-6 lead. The Eagles pulled within three, 11-8, but the Lady Warriors sealed off the game's last four points for a 15-3 win and a trip to the Collinsville Sectional next week.

Granite City takes on Highland at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. The second match, which features East St. Louis Lincoln and Saturday's winner of the East-Altoff game in Belleville, is scheduled for 7:45 p.m.

Once more Laurie Bohnenstiel led the Lady Warriors attack, accounting for at least a dozen points on the night, including a trio of kills and another of aces. Bohnenstiel, who was just named to the second team SWC all-conference volleyball team, and Jenna Wright, who was tabbed an honorable mention selection, are senior team leaders of the resurgent squad.

•Bevis

"I'll be honest, coaches' kids are cut out of a different mold," Dougherty said. "They are around it. They handle things differently. They are kind of inbred soldiers. Joe was hugging water around for the first three years. He was our water boy jumping out in the huddle in the middle of games."

Bevis is in the middle of all the huddles now. And instead of carrying water on the field, he's carrying would-be tacklers.

At 6-foot, 186 pounds, this first-team all Southwestern Conference fullback almost has two distinctive styles of running the ball.

"He's not lacking in any of the areas," Dougherty said. "I think early on, he had to work on his running with the lower pad level and yet still have a good field vision. There are some times where he runs up the back of a blocker when the hole was a little bit to the left or to the right, but that's just experience."

Eagles president to visit local Aerie

William M. Blum, of Winlock, Wash., Grand Worthy President of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will visit Granite City Aerie #1126, on Monday.

Local president Jim Boyd invites all members to stop in and visit with Blum. A dinner will be served at 6 p.m. The Eagles is at 2558 Madison Ave., Granite City.

Blum joined the Eagles in 1956, and belongs to Aerie #1550 in Chehalis.

He has held all offices in the Aerie and all state offices through state president. He then advanced to the Grand Aerie as Inside Guard, Grand Trustee, Grand Worthy Vice-President, and Grand Worthy President-Elect. For two years he was director of the Memorial Foundation, Bradenton, Fla., the Eagles far-reaching program that provides educational aids for the children of Eagle servicemen and the children of firemen and policemen who die in the line of duty.

Blum also served on the Judiciary Committee for five years. Being involved in the betterment of the local community as well as the state is what Eagledom means to Blum. In a written news release, he said, "I believe in the things the Eagles do for the good of humanity."

A retired sawmill owner, Blum is a Christmas tree farmer and timber land owner. Married to Myrtle, they have two children, three grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Michael O'Brien

O'Brien to appear in Maryville

Christian singer Michael O'Brien will spread his message at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at First Baptist Church in Maryville, 2164 Vadalabene Drive.

For more information call 877-0040.

It's with his considerable talents that O'Brien made his mark on the music world in 1995. "Nothin's Gonna Turn Me Around" and "If I Ever Forget," the first two singles from his Benson self-titled debut, became No. 1 hits.

He was named one of five nominees for the Dove Award for New Artist of the year, no small feat, crowded with more than 90 contenders.

His sophomore release, "Conviction," is not only the latest testament of O'Brien's vocal and writing skills, it's also a manifestation of much prayer and personal reflection.

HOW TO...

PLACE AN AD
There are four easy ways to place your ad:
1. Phone: Call 344-0264 (3278) or dial 800-766-FAST (3278).
2. Mail: Send your ad to: Classified Fax Center at (314) 821-3052. We'll call you back for confirmation.
3. Fax: Send your ad to: Classified Fax Center at (314) 821-3052. We'll call you back for confirmation.
4. Mail: Send your ad to: Classified, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, MO 63131.

PAY FOR AN AD
You will be billed immediately following last run day. You may pay in person, through the mail, or over the phone or fax. We accept cash, checks and credit cards (MC/Visa/Discover). When paying over the phone, please have your credit card ready. We reserve the right to refuse your ad, but will call you back for confirmation. Please do not send cash through the mail. Some ads require prepayment.

WRITE AN AD
Capture the reader's attention with larger headlines, bold type and symbols. Tell them up front what you're selling or seeking. Describe what is unique about your item, adding details such as color and condition. Avoid abbreviations; they make your ad harder to read and therefore less effective. Include your phone number and the hours you are available. Always include the price; it will increase your responses.

CANCEL AN AD
Deadlines for ad cancellation are identical to deadlines for ad placement. You may cancel an ad in person or over the phone. To cancel an ad, phone (314) 966-FAST (3278) or 1-800-766-FAST.

Tell us your holiday wish! ST. LOUIS 11 KIDS would like to hear from YOU. If you had one wish in the whole world...what would it be? We will choose ELEVEN of the best entries and publish them in the December kids page. Be sure to include your complete name and your age. Write clearly! Wishes must be received by November 12, 1997. Mail entries to: I WISH, 4935 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis, MO 63108

WHOSE FACE IS ON YOUR MONEY? DO YOU KNOW WHAT FAMOUS PERSON'S PORTRAIT IS ON YOUR CHANGE? DOLLAR (TWO ANSWERS) HALF-DOLLAR? QUARTER? DIME? NICKEL? PENNY? ANSWERS ARE SOMEWHERE ON THIS PAGE.

ST. LOUIS 11 KIDS Club Crew
The ST. LOUIS 11 KIDS Club Crew receives and answers loads of letters each week. They are always getting asked their "favorites". We thought we'd help you get to know Nikki, George and Gabe even better.

PEANUT BUTTER LOVER'S MONTH

IN HONOR OF NOVEMBER BEING "PEANUT BUTTER LOVER'S MONTH", WE HAVE A FUN RECIPE FOR YOU. BE SURE AND GET A PARENT'S PERMISSION TO WORK IN THE KITCHEN. AND, BE SURE AND CLEAN UP!
PEANUT BUTTER PLAYDOUGH
2 1/2 CUPS OF PEANUT BUTTER
(PLAIN)
2 TABLESPOONS OF HONEY
2 CUPS OF POWDERED MILK
MIX WELL IN A BOWL WITH VERY CLEAN HANDS! KEEP ADDING POWDERED MILK UNTIL THE DOUGH FEELS SOFT, NOT STICKY. THIS IS A DOUGH THAT CAN BE EATEN!

"YOU Can Make A CHANGE"

We're reminding you about a great project to do with your classroom, entire school or scout troop. Besides working together as a team, you're also helping kids at St. Louis and Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospitals. All you have to do is collect change; dollars, half-dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies. This would be a super project for the holidays. If your group collects at least $511.00 in change, Nikki, George and Gabe will pick them up and say "hi" and give you BIG "thanks"! Our goal is to collect $25,000! With YOUR help, we can do it!

For any additional information, have an adult call 367-7211.

The Impossible Dream

It's a fact. Global whining is running rampant. And Susie has taken it to an art form.

Susie has been house hunting. Months. Knows exactly what she wants. Colonial, 4 bedrooms, 4 baths, 3 car garage, 9' ceilings. Huge white kitchen. Nestled in woods. White picket fence would be nice, too. For $100,000.

Susie has a buyer's agent. Suppose to be working solely for Susie's benefit. But in Susie's eyes the agent has been worthless. Haven't even come close to finding what Susie so clearly described she needed.

Susie is demanding the impossible. What she wants is like asking her agent to find a mountain top home in the middle of a flat desert. It just doesn't exist in her price range.

And Susie is whining and calling the agent inefficient. Life is a series of compromises. This is never more evident than when trying to find a house. There is no such thing as the perfect one.

What then is the best way to approach the problem? With pen and paper and realistic expectations.

First make a list of what you "must have." If your car is your treasure, you must have a garage, for instance. If you entertain frequently, you must have a floor plan that accommodates the life-style.

Now make a column of "Would Likes." Then put your list aside for a few days. Interestingly, you will find some of the items sliding back and forth between the columns.

If you are headed out house shopping, remember to go with an open mind and the list in your hand. Be realistic about distinguishing between your needs and wants. And about how much money can buy.

Susie is chasing an impossible dream. She is destined for disappointment. If you are house hunting, learn from her. Make a reality check before you go. Don't let lack of it doom you to disillusionment.

SOMEBODY'S DYING FOR A PAIR OF SNEAKERS.

All over America children are the victims of violent crime. They are being assaulted and even murdered for the sake of anything from a pair of sneakers to some loose change in their pockets.

It's a situation that's only getting worse. Unless you do something to fight back, your child could become one of those victims.

You can make a difference. Start now by calling 1-800-WF-PREVENT and we'll send you information on successful ways to join with others to protect your children from crime in your neighborhood.
